

One Community

Presented to 3rd World Congress on Probation
Tokyo, Japan
September 13, 2017

GEORGIA DEPARTMENT OF
COMMUNITY SUPERVISION
— WHERE PUBLIC SAFETY AND PROGRESS MEET —

Creation of DCS

- One in thirteen Georgians under correctional supervision
- Born out of criminal justice reform, DCS was created in 2015
 - Merger of two separate supervision agencies
- Responsible for the community-based supervision of felony probationers and parolees
- Unique opportunity for positive change

Moving forward together...

ONE OFFICER

ONE FAMILY

ONE
COMMUNITY

July 2015

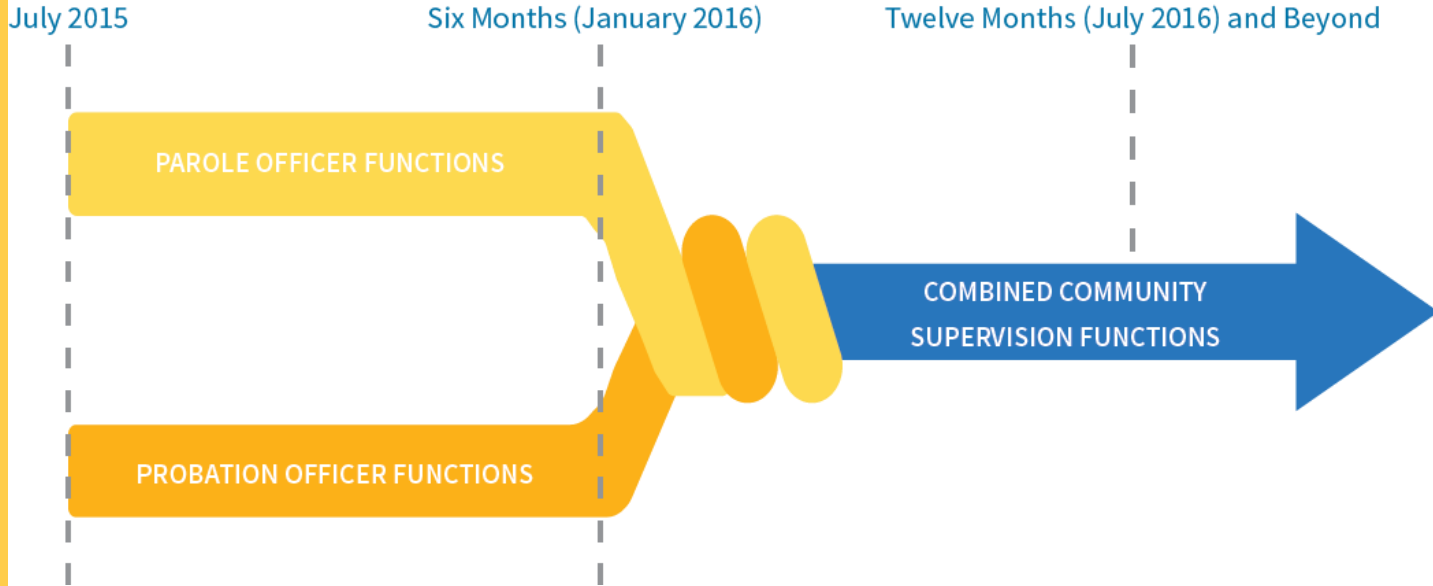

Six Months (January 2016)

Twelve Months (July 2016) and Beyond

PAROLE OFFICER FUNCTIONS

PROBATION OFFICER FUNCTIONS

COMBINED COMMUNITY
SUPERVISION FUNCTIONS

Building a bridge between prisoner and possibility

The DCS Mission

As an integral part of the criminal justice system, we protect and serve all Georgia citizens through effective and efficient offender supervision in our communities, while providing opportunities for successful outcomes.

ONE OFFICER

ONE FAMILY

ONE
COMMUNITY

DCS Supervision Philosophy

DCS utilizes the holistic 'One Community' approach to supervision. This approach involves many facets including:

- Partnerships with other criminal justice agencies
- Commitment to victims and their families
- Involvement in community activities
- Programs for offenders and their families

DCS caseloads are based on residences in a geographic area, not an individual's criminal justice status.

Heart of philosophy is the belief in:

- One Officer
- One Family
- One Community

The DCS Supervision Philosophy

The diagram illustrates the DCS Supervision Philosophy through three interconnected circles. The first circle, on the left, is dark blue and contains the text 'One Officer'. The second and third circles, on the right, are light blue and contain the text 'One Family' and 'One Community' respectively. Below each circle is a list of associated concepts. The first circle is linked to 'Place-Based Supervision', 'Enhanced Supervision Practices', 'Technology', and 'Officer Resources'. The second circle is linked to 'Resources', 'Environment', 'Addressing Needs', and 'Generational Crime'. The third circle is linked to 'Local Relationships', 'Greater Access to Resources', 'Community Buy-in', and 'Public Safety'.

One
Officer

Place-Based Supervision

Enhanced Supervision Practices

Technology

Officer Resources

One
Family

Resources

Environment

Addressing Needs

Generational Crime

One
Community

Local Relationships

Greater Access to Resources

Community Buy-in

Public Safety

The DCS Supervision Philosophy

The diagram illustrates the DCS Supervision Philosophy through three interconnected pillars. Each pillar is represented by a circle at the top, with a list of associated concepts below it. The central pillar, 'One Family', is highlighted with a dark blue circle and bold text, while the other two pillars, 'One Officer' and 'One Community', are represented by light blue circles and use standard text.

One
Officer

Place-Based Supervision

Enhanced Supervision Practices

Technology

Officer Resources

One
Family

Programming

Environment

Addressing Needs

Generational Crime

One
Community

Local Relationships

Greater Access to Resources

Community Buy-in

Public Safety

The DCS Supervision Philosophy

The diagram illustrates the DCS Supervision Philosophy through three interconnected pillars. Each pillar is represented by a circle at the top, with a list of associated concepts below it. The 'One Officer' pillar is light blue, 'One Family' is a slightly darker blue, and 'One Community' is the darkest blue. The concepts under 'One Community' are bolded, while the others are in a standard weight.

One
Officer

Place-Based Supervision

Enhanced Supervision Practices

Technology

Officer Resources

One
Family

Resources

Environment

Addressing Needs

Generational Crime

One
Community

Local Relationships

Greater Access to Resources

Community Buy-in

Public Safety

| Keys to Adoption

Cultural Change

Training

Technology

Stakeholder Engagement

“One Community”

Contact

Scott Maurer

Assistant Commissioner
scott.maurer@dcs.ga.gov

Bert Flewellen

Chief Operating Officer
bert.flewellen@dcs.ga.gov

GEORGIA DEPARTMENT OF
COMMUNITY SUPERVISION
— WHERE PUBLIC SAFETY AND PROGRESS MEET —

dcs.ga.gov